Mr. Herridge is a well-meaning man without a sense of humor. Any other sort of man would not be quite so absurd. He wants a new democracy springing from the people, as any democracy must, but what sort of democracy would respond to the call of a man who was Liberal until 1926 and in 1931 damaged Mr. Bennett's reputation if not his own by picking one of the choicest plums—the Canadian Embassy at Washington? He begins his crusade with a warning that Liberals and Conservatives are going to unite to introduce fascism. Then he launches his platform which, if he carries it into effect, will give Canada fascism a la Mussolini.

This new democracy, he said, must spring from the people, and he springs it himself. He is a wealthy man in his own right and has led a sheltered life in the companionship of the leaders of the two major parties, Mr. King and Mr. Bennett. Last July he attended the Conservative convention and you would have lost money if you bet that he would not take the leadership. He made a speech that only himself wanted to hear, but he would not have been selected even if he hadn't. There are already one or two parties which he might join, but he has too much ambition to serve as a private and not enough experience and steadfastness to qualify as a commanding officer.

The people of Germany are enjoined to emulate Hitler by abstinence from tobacco and intoxicating liquor. It is a mighty sacrifice they are asked to make, and it may have effects elsewhere. Even our strictest prohibitionists would not ask us to give up smoking and drinking if they thought it would make us look and act like Hitler. It is often difficult to distinguish causes from effects. Hitler might not be any different otherwise if he smoked and drank—he surely could not be more of a menace to public peace. It might indeed have made him more human and humane. We knew a man once—but this paragraph is long enough as it is.

In presenting a Bill to appoint a Commission to manage and control penitentiaries under his jurisdiction, the Minister of Justice said that the reason it was not first introduced in the Senate is that the government naturally likes to introduce its measures in the Chamber where they will receive sympathetic consideration. One Liberal member, Mr. Poulliot, urged the Minister not to appoint a Commission, but ended by saying he would vote for it if the Minister persisted. This is a sample of sympathetic consideration that would be lacking in the Senate. The strategy, therefore is to put a measure through the Commons first and, if the Senate rejects or amends, there remains the popular cry that the appointed body has overruled legislation passed by the elective body.

In the Days of Auld Lang Syne

TEN YEARS AGO

A meeting was to be held on March 27th for the purpose of re-organizing the Vulcan Agricultural Society. The speaker was to be Major Strang, president of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association.

Progress was being made towards the forming of the Vulcan Athletic Association to foster all sports with the exception of golf. A central committee to further plans for the organization was named and included Errett King, G. C. Collier, E. G. McPherson, W. E. Butchart and R. L. Elves.

Over 100 C.G.I.T. girls from Vulcan, Blackie, Champion, Carmanagay, Red Cross, Milo and Union Jack gathered at Vulcan for the first C.G.I.T. conference held here. Mabel McPherson of Vulcan was named president and Aileen McCullough of Champion, secretary.

Current show at the theatre was "Street Angel," with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.

Mrs. C. Graham, District Resident Since 1905, Passes

A beloved pioneer of the Vulcan district, Mrs. Catherine Graham, wife of Benjamin Graham, passed away at Vulcan on Monday, March 20th, at the age of 65 years. She had been ill for about two months. A wide circle of relatives and friends is left to mourn her passing.

Born at Maxwell, Ontario, she came to the Vulcan district with the first settlers in 1905 and in 1906 was married to Ben Graham. Mrs. Graham had made her home in the Vulcan district since that time and, besides her husband, is survived by two sons, Harry and Russell, and one daughter, Dale; also three brothers, Daniel McRae, Calgary; Jack McRae, Shoultice, and David McRae, Regina, editor of the Regina Leader-Post.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Melvin Dobson, were held from the United Church this Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Snodgrass Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements and interment was made in the Vulcan cemetery.

No. 23 Highway In Bad Condition

Country roads are well nigh impassable and the gravel highway is not much better as a result of the prevailing mild weather, which caused a heavy and quick spring run-off. It is reported that culverts are washed out on many country roads and the gravel highway, which now retains very little gravel, has been covered with water in spots, leaving a soft, muddy road in many places. Cars have encountered difficulty on both the High River and Carlsland highways to Calgary, the muddy condition of the road at times holding them up for several hours.

The rough and rutted condition of the five mile stretch of highway straight east of Vulcan has been the subject of complaints all winter. There is practically no gravel on this entire five mile stretch, although it is subjected to heavy traffic. A great amount of gravel and maintenance work is going to be needed this spring and summer to build No. 23 highway back to the standard at which it should be kept.

Despite the best efforts of farmers to save them, several dams used for stock watering and irrigation throughout the district have gone out in the past few days. In some cases the spring thaws have simply been too heavy for the overflow to take it away. Another cause has been that gophers have burrowed into the dams and weakened them considerably. There are a good many of these dams now in use locally, having been constructed under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

Set School and Hospital Tax Rates at M. D. of Royal Meeting

Large School Divisions Require Higher Taxation Rate: Discounts For Prepayment of 1939 Taxes; F. E. Bennett Re-elected Reeve

All councillors were present at the first meeting of the 1939 council of the Municipal District of Royal and the meeting was opened by W. Munro, returning officer, who called for nominations for the office of Reeve for the ensuing year. A. G. Spaeth was nominated by Mr. Gordon and F. E. Bennett was nominated by Mr. Snow. Ballotting resulted in a tie, each receiving three votes, and it was agreed that the tie would be broken by drawing a name from a hat. Mr. Bennett's name was drawn out of the hat by Mr. Graham and Mr. Bennett was declared elected reeve for the ensuing year.

George Gordon was elected deputy reeve for the next six months and G. D. Bateman was appointed as representative on the Foothills Health Unit board. D. D. McQueen was re-appointed as secretary-treasurer. The matter of appointing a delegate to the committee to arrange matters in respect to the school children being taken to Calgary to see the King and Queen was discussed and A. G. Spaeth was appointed to act for the M. D. of Royal on the committee, with power to co-operate on the same basis as the Town of Vulcan.

It was moved and carried that the council meetings be held on the second Saturday of each month from 1:30 p. m. to 6 p. m. The matter of purchasing office supplies and stationery was discussed and it was moved by Mr. Spaeth and carried unanimously that the District continue to purchase stationery as in the past, buying locally any supplies that can be purchased to advantage.

Discounts on 1939 Taxes
A by-law to provide for the following discounts for 1939 taxes was passed at the meeting: A discount of 10% be allowed on all 1939 taxes paid on or before May 31st, 1939; a discount of 7% be allowed on all 1939 taxes paid after May 31st and on or before August 31st, 1939; a discount of 5% be allowed on all 1939 taxes paid after August 31st and on or before December 15th, 1939.

School Requisitions
The following requisitions from School Divisions were read to the Council and accepted: Foothills School Division, $18,207.45; Macleod School Division, $5,724.73; Lethbridge School Division, $748.38. Considerable discussion regarding the increased taxation for school took place. It was noted particularly that the requisition from the Lethbridge Division was three times the average requisition in previous years.

It was moved by Mr. Bateman and carried unanimously that the District take up with the Department of Education the matter of boundaries of the School Units, and endeavor to have all of the Municipal District of Royal included in the Foothills School Division. It was pointed out by the secretary-treasurer that the Lethbridge School Division requisition might be subject to revision and in view of this information the council left setting the tax rate for school purposes in the Lethbridge Division until the next meeting.

With the Social Service tax set at 3 mills on the dollar, the following tax rates for schools and hospitals were levied: 6 mills for the Foothills School Division, 7 mills for the Macleod School Division, 1½ mills for Vulcan Municipal Hospital District, and 1½ mills for High River Municipal Hospital District. High River Hospital rate is the same as last year, while Vulcan Hospital rate is lower, being two mills last year. The rates in the various rural school districts last year ranged from 2 to 6 mills, averaging about 4.4 mills.

The Tax consolidation Act was adopted for the year 1939, with the necessary by-law being introduced and given three readings at the meeting.

Consideration was given to the matter of grants for 1939 and a motion was passed that the District provide in the 1939 estimates the sum of $300.00 to cover all grants during the year. The District contributed the sum of $15.00 to the Vulcan Fish and Game Association to assist in placing Chukar Partridges in this district.

It was decided that the District would supply strychnine to farmers as in previous years and that 600 ounces be bought from King's drug store at 44 cts. an ounce. Farmers will be urged to make the best possible use of the strychnine.

Vaccinate Horses
The campaign instituted by the Department of Agriculture to have all horses vaccinated against a recurrence of the sleeping sickness epidemic was discussed. Uphold Decision of Returning Officer On Municipal Vote

Claim For Recount of 22 Lots Disallowed by Judge W. A. Macdonald

In a district court hearing at Calgary on Friday of last week Judge W. A. Macdonald dismissed the action of Alfred Roebuck, who sought a recount of the votes cast in a recent election for councillor of Division 1 of the Municipal District of Royal on the grounds that ballots at one of the Polling stations had been improperly initiated by the deputy returning officer.

Election results showed Fred T. Graham had defeated Roebuck by a single vote. At the Vulcan poll 27 ballots favored Graham while 30 went to Roebuck. At Kirkcaldy, Graham received 24 votes and his opponent 20. Examination by the court revealed only two of the Kirkcaldy ballots were correctly marked for Graham. Another 22 for Graham and 20 for Roebuck had been initiated on the front instead of the back by the poll officer.

The decision of the Returning Officer, W. Munro, was upheld on all points by Judge Macdonald, who allowed the spoiled ballots to stand and said the voters would not be disfranchised through the marking error. Each principal was directed to pay his own costs of the action.

New License Plates Black on Aluminum

1939 motor license plates go on sale at the end of the month and will, as in former years, be distributed in this district by Hoskyn and Walker. 1928 or older model cars are eligible for the special old car reduction but there is no reduction whatsoever on trucks with the exception of those which were originally cars and have been converted into light deliveries. Prices are the same as last year.

License plates this year will be of black figures on an aluminum background. Three states, Alabama, Arkansas and Connecticut will have the same color scheme as Alberta.

Drivers' licenses also expire at the end of the month.

Annual Report of Foothills Health District Is Given

Accident Prevention and First Aid in Oilfields; Commends Interest of Women's Clubs

In a complete summary of the Foothills Health Unit operations for the year 1938, Dr. A. Somerville, director, presents interesting data.

Infantile Paralysis
Polio-myelitis, the report states, was the only epidemic disease in 1938 to cause serious trouble. A total of 29 reported cases, presented unusual features. 24 of the cases were within a small area in the central oil field region, with the other five of milder type were widely scattered. Peculiarities noted in respect to the cases at T.V. were: (1) 21 of the cases were within an area 2 miles long and half-a-mile wide, of less than 2,000 population; (2) 13 of the 29 cases were over 16 years; (3) the three deaths were adults 22, 23 and 24 years; (4) 19 of the 29 cases showed paralysis at some stage, but only 5 or 6 are going to show any permanent disability; (5) the epidemic started in early July and reached its peak earlier in August, which is earlier than usual. There were 3 deaths from infantile paralysis.

Vital Statistics
Total births in the health unit were 236, of which 11 were still-births. This gives a birth rate of 18.1 per 1000. (The Alberta rate is 20.4, and for Canada 20.) No maternal deaths resulted from these births.

Motor accidents accounted for two deaths in this area in 1938, and one person died of T.B.

Seven infant deaths occurred in 1938, five of these dying under the age of one month. This gives a mortality rate of 31.1 per 1000, comparing favorably with the rate in Alberta which is 60. New Zealand has had the best infant mortality rate in the world which is 31 per 1000.

Infectious diseases caused 5 deaths; 3 from infantile paralysis, one from septic sore throat and one from tuberculosis.

Cost of Financing
The service is financed by contributions from local municipalities of 30 cts. per head of general population. This is satisfactory except for L.I.D. 160 which had 673 people in 1936 and an estimated population of 2200 in 1938. An adjustment of this discrepancy is being sought for 1939. Total income from contributing taxpayers in 1938 was 4,098.38. The provincial grant for the same period was $5,000, and the government also pays $240 for

Will 10 Year Plan Go on Unimpeded?

It is said that Herr Hitler mapped his drive to the eastward, following the Munich pact, under the title of a "ten year plan." Will anything develop to halt his absorption of state after state.

By 1948, according to his plan, most of Europe will be under Nazi-Fascist control. Austria and Czechoslovakia have fulfilled their schedule; Hungary is slated for 1939, with Poland to be added later in the year. Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria will fall in 1940. The year 1941 is "the year of the Big war" when German armies slash through Poland and Rumania, seizing European Russia south of Moscow. The same victorious epoch turning westward will absorb Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and northern France.

The Hutterite colony has purchased a 4,640 acre farm near Beiseker. It is the old Huser farm with more than 4000 acres cultivated. The deal is made through Tanner and Hanson of Lethbridge, purchase involving a down payment of cash, and the balance on bushelage basis.

HIGHWAY NEEDS IMMEDIATE ATTENTION

ARE the so-called hard-surfaced highways in Alberta being built and maintained at the expense of the secondary gravel highways? This would seem to be the case when one recalls that our No. 23 was once classed with the best in the province and compares, or rather contrasts, its condition then with the deplorable state it is now in.

Maintenance work, if any, which has been done on the road in the past several months, has been largely wasted. Why put a gravel-spreading maintainer on the highway when there is no gravel to spread? True, there is gravel in spots, but there are miles of highway with not enough gravel on it to justify the name of being a gravelled highway. Cars should not become stuck in the mud on a properly gravelled and maintained highway but that is what has been happening on No. 23 highway this week.

Particular mention might be made of the five mile stretch of highway immediately east of Vulcan, which even in dry weather is so rough that it is a distinct menace to traffic.

Concerted action should be taken by the Board of Trade and other public bodies in bringing this matter to the attention of the Department of Public Works.

ADVANCE PRECAUTIONS

(From The High River Times)

IT will be noted that municipalities of this district and other parts of the province are issuing warnings regarding the probability of another outbreak of encephalomyelitis. These municipalities are also offering farmers an opportunity of having their horses vaccinated at reduced costs which range from $1.00 for two treatments to 50 cents, according to arrangements possible. It is now up to the individual farmer to take advantage of the offer. Vaccination, if properly administered, will ensure immunity for six months, and those who have municipal authority to vaccinate are presumably qualified to perform the work. Advice is given that the proper time to vaccinate is preferably in April or May.

There is a scarcity of horses in this district, a situation borne out by the recent horse sale, and by the statement of many farmers. Although power-farming is increasingly popular, there are still many farms where horsepower is extensively used. Any loss of horses would be a serious inconvenience during spring operations. The municipalities are doing their part in giving advance warnings, and in establishing the means by which vaccination is made available to all. Forewarned should be forearmed, and it is expected that if proper preventive measures are taken, farm losses will be negligible. But the farmer himself has his part to do.

Later in the season, warnings will be issued no doubt, in regard to a possible grasshopper infestation. There will be due notice given of proper methods of cultivation and proper methods of using bait. Last year a disregard of advance instructions proved costly, not only in crop loss, but also in excess use of bait. Farmers seeded land which they were warned not to seed, and their efforts to save these fields, brought an intensified demand on mixing stations. In many instances also, their efforts were wasted. It is to be hoped that attention will be paid to the warnings which may be issued this year, and that instructions will be followed in all respects.

ALL IN PERSPECTIVE

IT is human experience that great calamities serve to reduce small calamities to their proper place in the scheme of things. With developments in Europe again at a critical stage and with minds haunted by Premier Chamberlain's portentous and indisputable message of last Friday, the transient vexations of life seemed very small. When society is confronted with the imminence of war, there is little room for other thought. The cake that failed to rise, the line fence dispute, the little domestic frictions and neighborhood disagreements seem petty and unnecessary. The ordinary things about which we lament and grumble, are infinitesimal in the shadow of impending catastrophe.

There is no question that a general war is the one great and all-embracing disaster that can befall the human race. Other calamities may be sectional or perhaps individual, devastating and bitter to a few, but limited in extent.

Life has moved too fast in the last two and a half decades. The human race has been called upon to endure past all endurance. People on the North American continent have been infinitely fortunate. They have looked from afar on the frenzied preparations of defense or aggression in Europe. They have heard with incredulity of the burrowings underground, the ignominious "shelters" to which men, women and children must flee when death descends from the skies. And this is civilization, when men who have walked free and upright upon the earth, must creep and crawl! The very preparations for war are past all imagining. What reality might be, no one can even guess.

Whatever the future may hold for Canadians in allegiance to the mother land, it must at least be granted, that we have hitherto been spared that suspense and tension which has been the lot of all those living within the unhappy aura of the Hitler madness. But when we are confronted with the possibility of ourselves being involved in war, then we realize with startling clarity that after all there is only one positive unrelieved, hopeless tragedy in the world. And that is war. All other trials and vicissitudes to which we are subject, are relatively unimportant—perhaps our own fault—at any rate either transitory or possible of remedy.

The flood of letters sent to Ottawa by way of response to the appeal of the Leadership League was enormous, partly because there is a feeling that parliament wastes too much time, but partly, too, because the letters were printed and no postage was required. We could regard it as of overwhelming significance if each envelope bore a three-cent stamp. We are not objecting to the franking privilege being extended to the electors. If a member may frank a letter to a constituent from Ottawa, there is no reason why a constituent should not frank a letter to his member at Ottawa. We are only wondering how large the flood would be if the constituents had to write and stamp their letters, and whether the members would reply to them all individually if they had to do the same.

Identical letters or telegrams suggest a common inspiration and source and therefore are not seriously regarded by Ministers and private members, but if each elector would only sit down and write a letter urging his member to vote for this or against that it would carry influence, and many of them of a similar nature would carry authority. If, for example a number of Mr. Pouliot's supporters had written him saying "we agree with you that we have had too many Commissions and that another Penitentiary Commission is unnecessary, and you should not allow friendship for Mr. Lapointe to reverse your own judgment," he would think twice before doing so.

On the very day that Premier King warned the Commons that they should get down to business instead of debating, because they might soon have something more serious to worry about, there was a debate over the air in which one man argued that Canada needs no further defences and should not become involved in any of Britain's quarrels to back up the Chamberlain government which had made so many appalling blunders which he cited serially with great gusto. The other move took the opposite ground, of course. It was not a C.B.C. programme, but was conducted under C.B.C. rules.

The theory is that absolute fairness can be attained only by having both sides represented. Mr. Brockington defended it with conspicuous ability before the Radio Committee, but admitted the system might be open to the charges of inconsistency. We do not recognize its virtue. One man should not be allowed to preach Communism over the radio merely because another man is allowed to denounce it. The C.B.C. would hardly allow a man to preach atheism so long as a Christian Minister replied. It cannot be carried out, and it isn't. An announcer gives us each night the weather forecast, but does not allow some one else to declare that the announcer is all wet on his weather prognostications.

Couched in the words used by Mr. King while addressing a Saskatchewan audience in 1935 that resolution of the Alberta Legislature urging the federal government to issue credit in terms of need, should have the Prime Minister's support but it won't. Some time after the election was over he explained that what he meant was the needs of business. A prudent military strategist preparing for an advance always provides for retreating ground.

Bishop Rowe of Alaska voices the considered opinion that the people now are better than they seem. We agree with him, and submit that the average would be much higher were it not for one class, viz. the people who seem better than they are.

On Friday the funeral of Albert Groggins, late lamented proprietor of the Never-Never House, will be held from the popular local funeral parlors. The cortege will start at 2 p.m. and the body will be received at the cemetery by a large gathering of former customers who have taken up permanent residence in the cemetery in recent years. Andy's orchestra will accompany the remains, playing a few lively requiems to show the high esteem in which deceased was held.

Did He Steal McHugh's Horses?

The charges brought by Felix McHugh against Peter McGonigle, editor of the Midnapore Gazette, for having in his unlawful possession a horse bearing the McHugh brand, was tried at the barracks last week, and dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence showing any criminal intent on the part of McGonigle. Evidence for the defence was adduced to show that said animal was a trick horse, and had learned the knack of entering a barn alone and tying itself with a rope to the manger. Mr. McGonigle stated that the barn behind his printing office was empty save for the files of back numbers of the Gazette, when he went to bed on the night in question. He denounced his arrest as an outrage. He had no idea how the horse got there. Mr. McGonigle's many friends are justly indignant at the aspersions cast on his sterling character. They have shown their sympathy by consenting to drink with him whenever he will set them up. He left the court room with a stain on his character.

Society Notes

Mrs. Edgar Polten gave a charming tea yesterday at her residence, to present to society her delightful daughter Miss Matilda. Mrs. Polten and daughter received in the drawing room which was charmingly decorated with cosmos, autumn leaves, palms and several beautiful empty bottles, arranged as a souvenir of Mr. Polten, who, it will be recalled, died recently. Mrs. Polten was gowning in white crepe de chine and Miss Polten in a charming embroidered silk muslin with satin garters. The charming bud created a profound impression with her abnormal appetite for cookies, of which she ate fourteen without foundering.

A pretty wedding took place at high noon yesterday when Miss Sally Cottles, a well-known belle became the bride of Mr. Emanuel K. Jewellikin, who holds a responsible position behind the bar of the Hardy Ever Hotel. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants, palms and canned lobster. Promptly at high noon, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father who staggered slightly but gave her away without any ill-timed protests.

Mrs. Ethel Totmail Megrar gave a charming musicale at her residence last evening. The hostess gave a delicate performance of a Mozart Scherzo, the tempo being played with a refinement, a breadth, a depth and height worthy of the motif. Miss Gladys Gristle was superb in her rendition on the gramophone of Schubert's "Rosamunde," full of melody and charm, while Miss Hannah Walker rendered with matchless delicacy on the bagpipes the perennially beautiful ellegro from Faust. A silver collection was taken up in aid of the piano and bagpipe tuner. Refreshments were served when the gramophone discs ran out.

Telephones are going to be installed on the Royal train when passing through Alberta.

NOTICE to HORSE-OWNERS IN THE MUNICIPAL DISTRICT of ROYAL, No. 158

An outbreak of Sleeping Sickness is expected during the 1939 season and an attempt is being to have all Horses in the Municipality vaccinated.

The Municipality, in co-operation with the Department of Agriculture, will arrange for the vaccination at a cost of One Dollar per head for the Two treatments, if owners will gather their horses together in bunches of fifty or more at various points.

The work will be undertaken by Geo. Todd, Vulcan, and Geo. Forbes, Brant, who have received instruction in this work. All horses vaccinated in 1938 should be re-vaccinated.

All horse owners are asked to communicate with the Municipal Office or get in touch with Mr. Todd or Mr. Forbes within the next week and advise as to the number of their horses and whether or not they wish to participate in the campaign.

The intention is to start the work early in April, hoping that it might be completed before seeding.

Flutter of Wings Over Legislature

Last week a dark secret was threshed out in legislature when it was revealed that the Social Credit Association of Ponoka had a party, at which members of legislature were present, and at which pheasants were served as one of the delicacies. There were said to be 200 present, and it was said that the pheasants were supplied by the game branch of the provincial government. Now it is well known that if you and I shoot pheasant, we break a law, pay a heavy fine or maybe go to jail. So the inference that a Social Credit gathering is above and beyond the law which cracks down on us lesser people, was naturally a matter of comment in the legislature.

These birds were brought into the province, not through any cost to government, but at the expense of a few sportsmen in the southern part of the province. The game branch was asked only to provide protection against shooting, and agreed to do so.

The Lucullian feast at Ponoka indicated that persons in the good graces of the government can ignore with perfect safety the laws which apply to the masses. They can eat pheasants while others eat gophers.

However, Hon. W. A. Fallow declares that the criticisms of the Social Credit feast have been very unjust, and the pheasants were male birds killed at the poultry plant of the mental hospital at Ponoka. He says that it was the policy to destroy surplus birds when the males had become too numerous. He said: "In all cases, the carcasses of these pheasants are given as much as possible to those who have raised or fed them."

It still doesn't sound very reassuring, and a government should be extremely careful in any precedent of special privileges for some.

Chamberlain Speaks On Hitler's Breach of Faith

Prime Minister Chamberlain's address last Friday, following the Hitler invasion of Czechoslovakia, was the most outspoken and denunciatory of his career. Bitter disillusionment in Hitler's defiance of the Munich pact, and his nullification of promises made in Germany, were expressed. The promising prospects for a broader understanding during 1939, and a furthering of friendship, have been destroyed, said the premier.

Reviewing the grounds on which he had placed faith in Hitler, he said: "When I came back after my second visit I told the House of Commons of that conversation I had had with Herr Hitler, of which I said that speaking with great earnestness, he repeated what he had already said at Berchtesgaden—namely that this was the last of his territorial ambitions in Europe and that he had no wish to include in the Reich people of other races than Germans."

"Herr Hitler himself confirmed this account of the conversation in a speech which he made at the Sportpalast in Berlin when he said: 'This is the last territorial claim which I have to make in Europe.'"

Hitler Concur

And a little later in the same speech he said: 'I have assured Mr. Chamberlain and I emphasize it now that when this problem is solved, Germany has no more territorial problems in Europe.' And he added: 'I shall not be interested in the Czech state any more and I can guarantee it. We don't want any Czechs any more.'

"And then, in the Munich agreement itself, which bears Herr Hitler's signature, there is this clause: 'The final determination of the frontier will be carried out by an international commission'—the final determination. And lastly in that declaration which he and I signed together at Munich we declared that any other question which might concern our two countries should be dealt with by a method of consultation."

"Well, how can these events which happened this week be reconciled with those assurances which I have read out to you? Surely, as a joint signatory of the Munich agreement I was entitled, if Herr Hitler thought it ought to be undone, to have the consultation which is provided for in the Munich declaration. Instead of that he has taken the law into his own hands."

"Before even the Czech president was received, and was confronted with demands which he had no power to resist, the German troops were on the move, and within a few hours they were in the Czech capital."

"According to a proclamation which was read out in Prague Friday, Bohemia and Moravia have been annexed to the German Reich. Now German inhabitants, which include of course Czechs, are placed under a German protectorate."

"They are to be subject to the political, military and economic needs of the Reich. They are called self-governing states but the Reich is to take charge of their foreign policy, their customs and their excise, their bank reserves and the equipment of disarmed Czech forces. And perhaps most sinister of all, we hear again of the appearance of the Gestapo, the secret police, followed by the usual tale of wholesale arrests of prominent individuals with consequences with which we are familiar.

"What has become of the assurance 'We don't want Czechs in the Reich'?"

"What regard has been paid here to that principle of self-determination on which Herr Hitler argued so vehemently with me at Berchtesgaden when he was asking for the severance of the Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia and its inclusion in the German Reich?"

Disorders From Without
"Now we are told that this seizure of territory has been necessitated by disturbances in Czechoslovakia. We are told that the proclamation of this new German protectorate against the will of its inhabitants has been rendered inevitable by disorders which threatened the peace and security of her mighty neighbor."

"If there were disorders, were they not fomented from without? And can anybody outside Germany take seriously the idea that they could be a danger to that great country, that they could provide any justification for what has happened?"

"Germany under her present regime has sprung a series of unpleasant surprises upon the world; the Rhineland, the Austrian Anschluss, the severance of Sudetenland—all these things shocked and affronted public opinion throughout the world."

"Yet, however much we might take exception to the methods which were adopted in each of these cases, there is something to be said, whether on account of racial affinity or of just claims too long resisted—there is something to be said for the necessity of change in the existing situation."

"But the events which have taken place this week in complete disregard of the principles laid down by the German government itself seem to fall into a different category and they must cause us all to be asking ourselves: Is this the end of an old adventure or is it the beginning of a new?"

British Commonwealth
"Is this the last attack upon a small state or is it to be followed by others? Is this in fact a step in the direction of an attempt to dominate the world by force? Those are grave and serious questions."

"We ourselves will naturally turn first to our partners in the British Commonwealth of nations and to France to whom we are so closely bound and I have no doubt that others, too, knowing that we are not disinterested in what goes on in south-eastern Europe, will wish to have our counsel and advice."

"In our own country we must all review the position with that sense of responsibility which its gravity demands. Nothing must be excluded from that review which bears upon the national safety. Every aspect of our national life must be looked at again from that angle."

"While I am not prepared to engage this country in new unspecified commitments operating under conditions which cannot now be foreseen, yet no greater mistake could be made than to suppose that because it believes war to be senseless and cruel thing, this nation has so lost its fibre that it will not take part to the utmost of its power in resisting such a challenge if it ever were made."

"I do not believe there is anyone who will question my sincerity when I say there is hardly anything I would not sacrifice for peace. But there is one thing that I must except and that is the liberty that we have enjoyed for hundreds of years and which we will never surrender."

"That I, of all men, should feel called upon to make such a declaration—that is the measure of the extent to which these events have shattered the confidence which was just beginning to show its head and which, if it had been allowed to grow, might have made this year memorable for the return of all Europe to sanity and stability.

UNITED CHURCH NEWS

At the special song services last Sunday, we were favored with excellent numbers both morning and night, together with a hymn by the C.G.I.T. group who attended in a body in their attractive C.G.I.T. uniforms. At least half a dozen hymns were contributed which were either entirely new or not well known. The only drawback was that continued sickness prevented many from attending. The amount raised for the new hymnbooks was $92.30, which will probably be raised to the objective of $100 and thus ensure a complete supply of new hymnbooks in the near future. The Board of Management is very grateful for this most generous response.

The latter part of the winter has been marked by an unusual amount of sickness and to all friends who are now far from well we extend earnest hopes for a speedy and complete recovery. The church misses you.

Three more services remain in the Lenten studies on Friday evenings in the church at 7:30 p.m. All are invited.

News and Views From Other Papers

Something Wrong

There is something crazy about the way things are run in this day and age. Here we have over a billion bushels of wheat in sight for this year all over the world, and we are apparently only going to use about half a billion bushels. But, with another half-billion bushels stored away somewhere there are millions of people who find it impossible to get enough to eat. The great leader of the future will be the man who finds some way of getting the goods that we produce into the hands of those who will consume them.—Fort William Times-Journal.

Quebec on Defence

One thing can be said in favor of the debate on the speech from the throne. It gives political observers an opportunity to size up the sentiments of the members on any question. After two weeks of the debate one of the observers, Torchy Anderson, said that expressions of Quebec Liberals led to the conclusion:

1. That they are reconciled to the heavy defence expenditure provided this year.
2. That they insist that such provision is purely defensive.
3. No overseas war adventure without sanction of the Canadian people.
4. No European political refugees and no immigration until Canadians are looked after.—Country Guide.

What Pants to Wear!

Ottawa correspondents have been brushing up on their etiquette—whether they liked or no.

One of the major jobs is to find out for distracted editors, in turn pestered by equally distracted mayors and aldermen, the wants, hows and whens of the Royal visit.

There is a lot of worry about pants. Headgear and coats are comparatively simple but the vexed question of pants—plain, fancy and striped—are much debated.

One local authority could not see why the King could not be persuaded to wear a cowboy hat during the Royal progress through his city. Another suggested that His Majesty, as honorary colonel, should, well, wear the uniform of Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

There is sure to be somebody who wants the King to become an Indian chief.—T. A. in The Winnipeg Tribune.

Health Dist. Report

rental on the health office. Total expenditure for the year was $8,962.81 or 59 cts. per head of population. One dollar per head is usually considered necessary for proper preventive coverage. The population is 15,275 people, divided approximately as follows: High River, 1359; Nanton 709; Vulcan 865; Blackie 224; Cayley 135; Black Diamond and Turner Valley villages 1133; Stockland 2949; Riley 1834; Royal 1580; Dinton 1887; L.I.D. 160, 2200; T.V. school district ———; Parkland S.D. 315; Elite S.D. 85.

Communicable Diseases

Aside from the epidemic of infantile paralysis, scarlet fever appeared at scattered points and scattered intervals. The south-end of Turner Valley and Vulcan district have had the bulk of these cases, and these cases will give an opportunity to note the effect of the scarlet fever inoculations done about two years ago. Other communicable diseases were quiet.

Sanitation Improved

The garbage problem at Royalities and Longview has been adjusted satisfactorily, and also the water supply. In relation to special sanitary measures necessary consistent support has been given by Archie Sinclair, Royalite Oils, Mercury, Brown-Moyer, Model, Spooner-Reward, Anglo Canadian, T. Merriam, Round T ranch, Mr. Frankland and A. Twitcheen.

Industrial Hygiene

Apparently hazards of the oil industry are almost entirely due to accidents, with no occupational disease evident.

Assistance

Royalite Co. has for years given attention to accident prevention under able supervision of Fred Cameron. 80 trained men are located at strategic points with first-aid equipment available. Brown-Moyer-Brown have opened a first aid station for training. This service should be improved amongst smaller companies.

Practically all women's organizations of the unit have shown interest in preventive care and public health. Men's organizations, with an occasional exception, take no interest in public health. High River Rotary has its Xmas seal campaign.

The I.O.D.E.'s of Nanton and High River deserve special mention. Nanton I.O.D.E. has for years sponsored a fund to provide milk of something hot for the school pupils at noon—important because it is a consolidated school.

The Health Unit staff thanks teachers, school boards, councils, newspapers of the district, provincial government and Metropolitan Life for their much appreciated assistance.

Immunization

During the fall of 1938, the second complete coverage of the health district for smallpox and diphtheria was completed. Now 72.75% of the school children are protected against diphtheria, and 79.1% against smallpox; 16.5% of pre-school against diphtheria and 14.5% against smallpox.

Tuberculosis Work

T.B. control consists of careful checking of old cases and contacts. There was one death from T.B. Tuberculosis work at the Sanatorium for the health district in 1938 was—new cases admitted 6; number minimal 2; cases in Sanatorium from former years 3; total hospital days 857.

In respect to high school work, one new case was found from pupils reported under close observation, making a total of two cases found under T.B. test. Both are in very early stage, and not being infectious, are treated at home, continuing at school and making good progress.

School Medical Service

In 1938, a plan was inaugurated of inspection by the nurse every other year, and a more complete check by the doctor in alternate years. This is annual check-up and full examination every second year, a more complete service than in most cities. Sanitation, water, etc., are checked on visits to schools.

Mental Hygiene Clinics

Teachers have found the reports from mental clinics very helpful in adjusting pupils to their grades, and picking subjects for which pupils may have special ability.

Milk Control

Milk control is a major duty of the sanitary inspector. Towns and villages with population of 7395, are serviced by 25 dairymen, delivering 2061 quarts daily, but there are also privately-owned cows supplying one family each. Standard of milk is good on the average. Meat markets, restaurants, bake shops, etc., get regular attention from J. C. Mooney, sanitary inspector.

The office laboratory mainly occupied with examining milk and water samples, does other tests also in relation to infectious diseases, particularly spinal fluid tests for meningitis or infantile paralysis. This service is available to all the doctors. The provincial government provides materials of serums, toxoids, etc. The laboratory is equipped also to type the common forms of bacteria causing pneumonia.
